

Music is good for the soul, especially when it's music that is special to you. Your favorite songs plus a dance floor full of special people equals the recipe for an unforgettable wedding, and JD Fischer of Midwest Entertainment makes it his mission to provide you with that reality.

Midwest Entertainment has provided the entertainment for hundreds of weddings and other events. JD Fischer, a Marbecca Master of Ceremonies certificate holder, says that he frequently attends conferences, training events, and workshops to make sure he is a leader in the entertainment industry. That experience coupled with his love of music and entertaining has led him to local and national praise including the 2006 DJ of the Year and a winner of theknot.com's Best of Weddings 2010. With their up-to-date technology and equipment, Midwest Entertainment can provide you the exact experience you dream of.

Why Choose Midwest?

Midwest Entertainment makes it their priority to accommodate to you. With professionalism, a desire for perfection, and a personal touch, they will make the day exactly how you want it. In fact, before you even sign a contract, JD would prefer to personally meet with you to discuss your expectations and vision for the day. His goal is to make it memorable and anxiety-free for you and your guests.

Since the majority of Wisconsin weddings contain music and a reception with dancing, it makes sense to choose a DJ that caters specifically to the area. Midwest Entertainment will travel anywhere in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Upper Michigan, Illinois, and North and South Dakota. They will play music for both the wedding ceremony and reception, even if they are at different locations.

The Sound of Music

It wouldn't be a day about you with just any old music. That's why Midwest Entertainment updates their music catalog weekly and can play just about any song from the 1940's through today. They don't have what you're looking for? No problem. The DJ can find almost any song from any genre and welcomes you to bring in any of your favorites.

On average, Midwest Entertainment plays 60 to 75 songs during a typical reception. That gives you plenty of opportunity to play your favorite songs with your new spouse, your girl's night out favorite, and your parent's wedding song. Midwest Entertainment will make sure each transition is smooth and enjoyable and will keep the dance floor filled with guests and their best moves (or lack thereof).

Your wedding day should be fun, exciting, and memorable, and the perfect music to accompany each detail will add to the setting and ambiance. Whether you're looking for fun and upbeat or sweet and romantic, Midwest Entertainment can help set the mood for your perfect day.

Personal. Professional. Perfect.
We take the time and interest to meet you in person and form a relationship that allows us to build a day full of memories to last a lifetime.
